Story of Randominivity

He was flying so happily... and then a portal opened in front of him. He was not paying attention, and he flew right into it.

He was in a sort of Distortion World, and as soon as he flew in, the portal closed behind him. Then he got morphed into a giant Horsefly... literally, a flying horse with the wings of a fly. He listened and heard nothing. He realized that there was no life here, and he was right. There was no LIFE... but there was UN-Life. One Un-Life. A gigantic guardian of the Distortion World! A cross between a dragon, ghost, cat, dog, fish, and... the most powerful part of it. KIRBY!!!

The Dragon/Ghost/Cat/Dog/Fish/Kirby pulled out a giant hammer. He tried to squash Goat-Boy with it, but he missed. Then they began speaking like British people! Then a pie flew at Goat-Boy! Then Goat-Boy slipped and fell onto a giant marshmallow trampoline, and hit the ceiling. And that was the end of him.

Goat-Boy now lives as the 2nd Guardian of the Distortion World, and, by the way... they still randomly talk like British people sometimes.

And that is why there are pumpkins.

Here are more GO GREEN letters from Mrs. Speer's Science Class.

Dear Ms. Carruth,
I have thought of a few ways to save the school money. First, we can buy a solar panel. It will cost a lot but it will pay itself off in time. It will save more heat, light, and energy.

Second we can put bushes around the air conditioning units to keep them cool.

Third, we can put recycling bins around campus to recycle used paper and plastics.

Fourth, we can plant trees to provide shades and homes for animals. We could also have a rain water collection system.

From,
Claire Ballard.

Dear Ms. Carruth,
I've noticed that our school isn't very green. So I think we should add trees, shrubs, and skylights. I also think that every day at some time we should power down. We should add solar panels. Also what is very interesting that they help the Earth, and save money!

Love,
Rachel Lilley

Dear Ms. Carruth,
I think we need to do something to save the earth even if its just something small. I'd sure love to live on an earth that's not dying. So I'd like for you to help on that. We can even do something to change the school. Like...

Maybe a green house. You can plant some food and instead of wasting money you save it by using the food in the green house for the cafeteria. The ideas people think about can be really good at time.

Like some new plants around the building it makes it look more and new. It also makes some shade to make the earth look much more beautiful. It makes pretty animals come like beautiful butterflies.

You could also save energy. Like maybe have 2 lights or maybe just one turned on that way the bills won't come very high and you will also be saving your home on earth.

I don't think it would hurt to make some changes just to help yourself and others and others like you.

Sincerely,
Barbara Suarez
