Dear Santa.
I need my kids to have some rooms of their own so they don't drive me crazy. We also need bread and other things to eat and some milk. A brand new house-shoe would be good too.

On Christmas morning I was so exited to see what was in my stocking. Do you know what I found in my stocking? I found a car. It was red and silver and gold. It was three feet long and six inches high. And it had shiny wheels.

Santa got the truck in because my stocking was bigger than everyone's.

One night I heard something on the roof and I heard it coming down the chimney. I quickly hid from him and he was putting something in my sister's, my cousin's, my baby cousin's, my aunt's, my uncle's, my other aunt's, my mom's, and my dad's stockings.

But then it was morning. And the guy disappeared, and my family woke up for the presents. All presents were opened--skateboards! Dolls! Boppers! Machines! Toys! Books! Cars Motorcycles! Bikes!! Cameras!

Now play! Play!!!!

One Christmas morning, I was very excited to see what was inside my stocking, and oh my goodness I found a worm. Where did it come from?

Finally I checked my calendar and guess what it was April first and that was April Fools' Day.

My mom had fooled me by putting up my stocking on the first day of April.

Yes it was April fools day, not Christmas like I thought

If I were an elf I would make a Robot that would help kids read. It would be a gold robot. First it would read Dr. Seuss. Second it would read Robert Munch. His name would be Mr. Reed. He would say one word at a time. Then the kids would repeat the word.

The kids would get faster and faster until they read! Mr. Reed would be a great teacher.

If I were an elf, I would make a toy like a robot dog that looks real. It would be black and white. Her eyes would be brown. She would never be lost because she knows the address at her home.

She's faster than me and I run fast. I would give the first one to my sister, Angela. She's lucky. I wish I were her. She would be really excited.

After my first one, I would make more to give her to every boy and girl who's been nice! _

If I were an elf I would build Santa and his nine reindeer Dasher, Prancer and Vixen, Comet, Cupid, Donner, Blitzen, and Rudolf. Those reindeer would be in the toy. The toy could be named Christmas in the sky! It might even turn into a movie. That would be cool!

That toy might even be the best toy for 2004.

It would be painted to look like each and every reindeer. Also like Santa. The sleigh would be red and it would have a big bag of toys on it and it would be brown, but only a light brown. The toy could roll and turn around when you wind it up. It would be very cool! I know every boy and girl would like this under the tree.

I got up early in the morning because I was thinking that it was Christmas evening. I was in a hurry to see what was in my stocking. So I just put my hand inside the stocking and then got what was inside and pulled it out.

I saw what was it and it was a worm. UGG! I threw it to the ground and then I realized it was not Christmas evening all.

My mother had unpacked the Christmas decorations two weeks before Christmas. My stocking just happened to be in the Christmas box.

I had gotten a real surprise. Thank goodness, it was no for real.

Morgan H. 2nd

It was Christmas morning. I woke up and I reached down in my stocking. And I couldn't believe it. I pulled out the stickiest, slimiest caterpillar in the world. I just couldn't believe that St. Nicholas did that.

I turned to the clock and it was three o'clock in the morning. And somehow I knew that it must have just climbed into my stocking by mistake.

WOW! What a shock!!

Now I would have to starting waiting again for a few more hours for Santa's arrival.

It was Christmas morning. I got up and ran to my stoking. I reached into my stoking. I pulled out some coal. Why did I get coal? I looked in my brother's stoking and they didn't have coal. So I got my brother's stuff and put it in my stoking. I got the coal and put the coal in my brother's stoking. I ran back to bed so it would look like nothing happened. I didn't see the note that said: you are not getting coal your present is in your room. So I went to my room, and I saw a big Great Dane. What a wonderful surprise.
