The Defeat
Sean P 5th

Year 2000X; "Don't try to fight me Zero," Dr. Circuit said jumping into an elevator. "You'll just make a fool of yourself."

"Hah, I think you've got that backwards Doc." I said.

At the top floor the elevator stopped, and the doors opened to a room with no windows. The door behind me closed. I tried to open it but it had jammed. The only things in the room were me and a giant tower. "Welcome to your doom!" Dr. Circuit said from the control tower. At that moment four lasers popped out of the walls. "Screet!" Four beams lanced toward me. I crossed my arms. The silver plates on my arms reflected the beams back and the lasers blew up.

"Very well," Dr. Circuit said. "But let's see how you fair against this!" He screamed. A giant metal box closed in around me. Blue gasses clogged the room.

"Farewell Zero," he said. "We shall not meet again. Hahahahahahaha!" He laughed maniacally. And then I blacked out.

Long ago in Kazakhstan there lived a very gifted girl. She was only nine and she already could knit, crochet, embroidery, sew, and cook. Her name was Izot that means in Kazak (born under the golden moon.) One day Izot's Babushka (grandmother) asked her to make a quilt for her sister, cook for her brother, and go to the store for her Babushka. So Izot made the quilt, cooked for her brother, and went to the store for her Babushka. She worked all day, finally she was done. One day Izot 's babushka (grandmother) asked her to make a quilt for her sister, and cook for her brother, and go to the store for her grandmother. So Izot made the quilt, cooked for her brother, and went to the store for her Babushka. She worked all day. Finally she was done. One day Izot went up in the mountains to make her quilt, suddenly a bright light shown. It was a wizard, a good wizard. "Since you have been so nice to everybody this quilt will bring you good things." Said the wizard. "Thank you," said Izot. She took good care of her quilt even when she grew up. Soon she had a beautiful baby boy named Grama. She passed the blanket to him when Grama grew up his family moved to the United States. But when they got there everyone was mean to their family, so they moved back home. But to a different town and they were mean too but they had to stay. Everybody picked on Grama. They even tore the quilt! The wizard came and cast a spell on the person and the quilt was always there.

The Talking Valentines Cards
Crissy A 4th

One day I woke up feeling really weird, and my mom and dad my sister my brother weren't there, but wait they wouldn't leave me like that! Oh by the way my name is Andy. I walked to the refrigerator, and there was a note that said, "We went to Disney World we will be back in a month or two. P.S. dinner is in the oven I think. We'll see you soon, love you!"

First, I went to my room thinking. It was my dream to go to Disney World! I went outside. Then I thought well I would just take a walk. So I was going up the sidewalk, and then I heard this voice said, "Hey you up there what's wrong? Hey who are you it's me down here." I looked down, and I saw a card. I said, "Are you talking to me?"

"Yes" said the card. "You can have me. I am a happy Valentines Card. I picked it up, and walked home. When we got home the card said, "I will give you a love wish."

"A love wish? It is a wish that you will love? OK I wish for my family back."

Then all of a sudden I woke up. My parents and my brother and sister were sitting on my bed. Then I said, "Let's go to Disney World."

Vegetables Take Over the World
Clinton S 3rd

One day the vegetables went mad. After a million years of being quiet they were mad. They made veggie guns, veggie bombs, veggie tanks, veggie missiles, and veggie armor. They ran to find the fruits so they fought. The fruits were happy going about there business then blew up everybody's home. Then the army ran out to help but a veggie hit them. Then pineapple came out and said "The vegetables are coming. Run and get home." Then Veggies popped out and started shouting. In a matter of seconds the fruit army was dead.
