

Creative Thoughts by 1st and 2nd!

Brooke S.

Hello, I asked the 1st and 2nd some questions and these questions were...

If you lived any where in the world where would it be?

If you found a new pet on another part of the world what would you name it, what color would it be, and how many eyes, legs, noses, and ears would it have?

Finish the paragraph. The ___ took a ___ from a banana store and buried it behind the ___. Then the big hippo came and ___. He found the ___ and took it. So, I went to get it back with my rusty ___. And here is what they said.

If I could live anywhere in the world I would live in Snyder, Texas! Because my best cousin lives there! She's going to come on the weekend! I can't wait at all! On the same day I get to look for baby rabbits at my house! I'll tell her immediately when I look! Because I'll tell her on the phone! So I can tell her really quick!

I found a new pet on the planet, Mars. I named him Mr. Noodles. He has nine eyes. He has six ears.

He has five noses. He has seven feet and legs.

He is the color blue. I like my new pet very much!

The "lizzard" took the gold and silver from banana store and buried it behind the mountain. Then the big hippo came and dug it up. He found the gold and silver and took it. So I went to get it back with my rusty machete. When he saw the machete. He let go of the gold and silver. Boy was I lucky!

The man took a banana split from my Banana Store and buried it behind the door. He put it in the freezer. Then the big hippo came and said, "You can't catch me."

He found the banana split and took it. So I got my rusty rake to hit him. But I did not hit him, but I got my banana split back.

The monkey took a banana from my banana store and buried it behind the apple tree. Then the big hippo came and do you know what that hippo did? That hippo found the banana behind the apple tree and the hippo took the banana and stole an apple. The owner was mad. He found the hippo and took it. So I went to get a dust rag. This rag was lucky. The owner was me. And I would have been mad if it hadn't been a dream.

If I went to Kazakhstan and I found a new kind of animal. Its name would be Cutie because it's eyes would be light purple. And its ears would be orange and floppy. Plus its nose would be black and wet. Its feet and legs would be green. And its color would be like a rainbow. And it would be a she!

I would love her and play with her every day. I would pet her fluffy fur. And she would sleep with me at night and she would lick me to wake me up like my alarm clock. I would feed her and play with her every day. It would fetch the paper for my mom. It would be fun.

If I could live where I would want to be, I would want to live in Germany. My Great Grand-Pa and Great Grand-Ma live there. They have good sausage and they also have the Black Forest close to where they live. The Black Forest is big and pretty and they use the wood to make Cuckoo clocks. That is one of my favorite things about

If I went to Mexico and found a pet I would call him Crunchy. His eyes would be blue. His ears would be soft. He would be a pit bull dog. His teeth are large. His nose would be wet. He would be blue. His feet would be large and his legs would be too.

I can't wait and tell I put him in my backyard.

If I could live anywhere around the world I would live in Japan because my grandmother live there. I want to live in Japan because of Mt. Fuji and Disney World.

In Japan they do Judo and that's some kind of fighting.

I like Japanese food such as fish, chicken, sushi, and raw fish.

Boy, it would be great to live in Japan.

I went to New Mexico. I found a hamster. My parent's let me buy the hamster. It was a girl. I named her Sassy. Sassy's eyes are bright blue. Sassy's ears are really small. I didn't know how she could hear, but she can. Her nose is so cute. Sassy's feet and legs are real small and fuzzy. Sassy is orange with white strips. I play with Sassy all the time and we have fun.
