Ms. Schuman's second grade GT class wrote about Thanksgiving from a turkey's point of view.

Billy Scheller 2nd

Once upon a time there was a turkey name Tom but they called him Jerry. And guess what today is? It is Thanksgiving Day—a day that turkeys are to be killed and devoured.

Tom said to his turkey friends, "There are boys coming north and want to devour us.

What are we going to do?"

Tom thought, "I am going to hide for all of this Thanksgiving season. But first I must devour some food. Then I will hide."

After he gorged on food, he went to hide. But just then the boys caught up with him. So all he could do was run. Actually, they could not find him. So Tom did not become an edible turkey on Thanksgiving Day.

Emily Tindol 2nd

Once upon a time there was a turkey and he decided he was NOT going to be the feast for the Thanksgiving celebration this year. He was invited to eat at another's turkey's house. He would not be an edible turkey this year.

OH OH! Here come those crazy hunters. He was about to be a feast in somebody's house again.

I am not going to be a turkey to be gorged upon. I refuse to be the turkey for someone's Thanksgiving celebration.

So he planned his escape.

Joe Gilligan 2nd

Once upon a time there was a turkey named Tom the Turkey. He did not want to be on a thanksgiving table with people gorging on him. So he went to his mom and dad's house to tell them that turkey season was coming up. Please let me pack my bags and take a pilgrimage.

Guess where Tom went? Tom went to the graveyard. When he got there Tom thought about being on a table at a Thanksgiving celebration with people gorging on him. But this year he would be safe.

This year people would not smell the aroma of Tom. No siree!

Melannie Victoria 2nd

Once upon a time there was a turkey named Tena, who never liked to be an edible turkey which people use as their entrée for Thanksgiving. She always liked a celebration in the summer because there were no Thanksgiving celebrations in the summer. Tena

Lived with her turkey parents. One day two boys were taking a pilgrimage through the forest to shoot a turkey like Tena. The boys wanted to devour her.

All of a sudden, she spotted her friend, Bear. He saw the boys hunting for her. Her friend Bear scared the boys away and Tena lived happily after and she did not become a succulent turkey for someone's Thanksgiving.

Camron Creek 2nd

Once upon a time there was a turkey named Jr. who didn't like people gorging on him. But he knew he would be he was a target for the Thanksgiving celebration. He decided to run to the meadows because he could hide in the grass.

All of a sudden he heard the fatal BOOM! But he realized he was still alive.

Was he going to be safe? Well, for this celebration he had escaped.

Ms. Shuman's first grade GT class wrote a Thank you letter to some one of their choice.

Storytelling
Corie Tunnell 3

In storytelling the coaches tell us a story, and we retell it back to the judge. The judge does not know the story. But if every one is talking about bats, and if one is talking about cows, then they know it's wrong.

We had a bunch of fun. Jerry and Rosemary told us about all the donkeys that lived at the place they were at. They said that the people there love the donkeys so much that when you hit one they will send an ambulance for the donkeys, but not for you! Jerry and Rosemary Raddick come every year, but this year it was amazing, because you could see the colors really well! I think a lot of people liked watching it! I know I did!

Ms. Carruth said, "I really enjoy the WorldMart program because it teaches the students about the fine arts". The program was Tuesday ,November 6th in the cafeteria. All of the children really enjoyed it!

How cool was That?!

Mireya Limones 5th

There were teams of students doing the experiments. Carla Bernal and Fabian were partners doing the experiments. They did an amazing job!

All of the experiments were awesome. I am hoping they cold come and visit one more time.
